

Being a member of a Volunteer Fire Department is not just about firefighting. We also assist in Public Education both at schools and at Children's Village. We strive for professionalism at all times no matter if we are in training, testing equipment, at parade detail, or at our normal everyday jobs. We currently have over 60 paid staff. The rest are volunteers.

About Us

The Hagerstown Fire Department is located in downtown Hagerstown, Maryland. We operate out of six stations with both volunteer and paid personnel. The department consists of 5 Engine Companies (pumpers) and 2 Ladder Trucks, Utility units, Chief, Deputy Chief, 3 Battalions with 3 Battalion Chiefs and 3 Captains, as well as its own Fire Marshal Office and Public Educator.

What does it take to become a volunteer

Fill out an application either online or download an application at www.hfdvol.org. After your application is received, an investigation and background check will be completed. After the investigation is complete, your application will be submitted for membership. Training will start after your acceptance into membership. Turnout gear is free as is the training.

Training

Once training begins, your role as a volunteer firefighter can change depending upon how far you would like to go. The training and opportunities are endless. After you achieve a certain level, advance classes as well as free college credit classes are available.
